Tuesday, February 14th, 2017
What’s Love Got to Do with It?
Gender and sexuality are complex topics, especially when you consider that people experience romantic and sexual attraction differently across a variety of LGBTQ+ identities. Come share a heart-shaped cookie with us, and learn more about an often-overlooked piece of the Queer identity puzzle!

Tuesday, February 28th, 2017
When Rape and Pop Culture Collide
*hosted in partnership with UNCG’s Dean of Student’s Office
This presentation will focus on the intersections of rape culture and American popular culture. We will discuss how various images and messages in our society may affect different gendered groups and perpetuate rape culture.

Tuesday, March 21st, 2017
From the Margins to the Middle: Student Panel
There are many Queer identities that fall outside of the traditional LGBT acronym, and serve as prime examples that gender and sexuality exist without rules. This student panel will help illuminate the complexities of Queer identities that aren’t often featured or discussed in the mainstream, helping to expand our understanding of inclusion.

Tuesday, March 28th, 2017
Understanding Company Culture:
Diversity versus Inclusion in the Workplace
*hosted in partnership with UNCG’s Career Services Center
Join us for an open roundtable conversation intended to create an honest space for students, alumni, and hiring managers to consider the job search for diverse candidates, and what to look for when evaluating an organization’s commitment to inclusion. Learn best practices on how to ask the hard questions to qualify the culture of a company, and hear from other’s experiences in the search for an authentic fit at work.

Tuesday, April 18th, 2017
LGBTQ+ in the Media
This presentation will explore the importance of media representation for the LGBTQ+ community. We will discuss the progress as well as the pitfalls that we see in media today, including what needs to be improved in the future to deconstruct the cis-heteronormative representations prevalent on our screens.